

1. The PoP idea has support. But must also have TT presence.
2. Why not put the center downtown? Satellite office maybe. But we need high visibility on campus.
3. Space in the Library may be a possibility. Will pursue.
4. Have to be aware of rollout tim line. Cant wait 10 yers for a space. Cant wait 10 years for an FWS-like program.
5. Connect with honors thesis where the ugrad works in community.
6. Just to reiterate the point about the dubious distinction between “outward” vs “inward” facing dimensions of an anti-racism center. Because POC have never had the privilege of maintaining a distinction between inside and outside, any center needs to accommodate both the academic and the activist components.
7. Outward should be global.
8. Community engagement. Not good to bring in local activists at the very end. Have them involved as we go along.
